

Letter to EBAC clients

this short letter is to inform you that UEMS-EACCME has recently suspended a longstanding agreement with EBAC.

EBAC continues to accredit international European CME in the field of cardiovascular medicine using the same principles and rules of procedure as established, and familiar to you, for many years.

EBAC has not only become the largest European accreditor of CME in cardiovascular medicine, well accepted in major European countries, but has also been able to make some landmark developments, among them cooperation

- in the Cologne Consensus Conference and
- support of the Journal of European CME (JECME) and
- the Journal for Continuing Cardiology Education (CCE).
- Furthermore, EBAC is the first and only European accreditor, who holds an agreement on mutual recognition of substantial equivalency with the US Accreditation Council for CME (ACCME).

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have further questions.

Looking forward to continue our fruitful cooperation we remain

EBAC
